it was a woman with mental trouble, declared to have a monkey-spirit in her stomach. The woman was suffocated when the witch and several other people sat on her in an attempt to squeeze the spirit out.

In Shandong Province (N. China), He Denggao's wife suffered from mental illness, and he consulted a witch. It's not clear whether she told him that his old house was the cause of the illness, and that he should move; or that his new house was the cause. Anyway, Mr. He decided to let off some firecrackers at his new place, a traditional way of exorcising demons. Alas, they were damp, and didn't go off. Bad omen, thought He, the head of the commune's construction team, so he sent for three hand-grenades that his team had for demolition work. We suspect spirit-mischief: the first two grenades went off okay; the third exploded prematurely, and blew He up. Meanwhile, in Shanxi Province, N.China, peasants were caught praying to portraits of Mao Tsetung, Chou Enlai and Zhu De, burning joss-sticks before the 3 dead leaders and telling fortunes by reading the cracks in heated oracle-bones. And in Guangxi Province, S W China, peasants stumbled on a mysterious leaflet called "The True Scripture", which appeared to have come from nowhere. You're not going to believe this, but the leaflet said that anyone who didn't make a copy of it and pass it on to someone else, would die a lingering death. A celestial chain-letter! The peasants consulted local sorcerers, and a small temple has been built. This birth of a new religion has, it seems, been affecting production in the area, so it doesn't look like it's going to be around for long... Reuters 22 January, Guardian, Daily Telegraph, Glasgow Herald, 23 January, Shropshire Star 26 January, Weekly News 2 February, Guardian 28 February 1980.

AND OVERSEAS

Indonesia: 40 people jailed for 8 months each for body-snatching from graveyards in South Sulawesi. The bodies were sold to traditional Chinese doctors for up to £40,000 each, who then use body-parts to make special medicines, said to bring immortality. Gloucester Citizen 18 January, Daily Telegraph 19 January 1980.

Singapore is in the grip of rumours, apparently spreading from Malaysia, that a gang of headhunters are loose on the streets and preying on children. The police deny the rumours, but there's an old superstition that a human head must be buried under a new bridge... and Singapore is building many new bridges and fly-overs at the moment. Sunday Times 16 March 80.

And back to Indonesia for our last tale: a 27-year old man from Sumatra married 121 times in 6 years, using 'black magic' to attract brides and get rich from their dowries. He told police he still had 4 wives left to divorce, and could only remember 28 of the women he married. Whatever this 'black magic' is, it sounds worth investigating...! Toronto Sunday Sun 27 January 1980.

Gannet-Westchester news reporter Maury Terry has had tremendous access to David Berkowitz (a marathon interview session at a government clinic for the insane) and to witnesses and materials in Yonkers, NY, the staging-ground for the weird SAM murders. [See FT30pp52-5].

As a result of this access, Mr. Terry has concluded that a satanic cult of which Berkowitz and John Wheat Carr were members, was responsible for the .44 killings.

The cult, consisting of 22 people, sacrificed dogs (by decapitation), drank their blood and communicated through occult codes (aka twilight language). This cryptic communication system was formulated upon an amazing sychronicity dating back to the 19th century.

The "Son of Sam" symbol [see FT30p53] contained in one of the letters he (it?) penned to journalist Jimmy Breslin, signified a pact with "descending hierarchies" and was borrowed from 19th-century occultist Eliphaz Levi. Here's what Maury Terry discovered:

> "Two words appear across the top of the original Levi symbol. They are "BERKAIAL" and "AMASARAC". Berkowitz' nickname is "BERK". "AMASARAC" written backwards – a common Satanist ploy – is CARASAMA – "SAM CARR".

Word inversion is not exclusively a "Satanist ploy". As this writer pointed out in a letter, in FT29, Freemasonry also uses this technique.

Sam Carr is the father of John Wheat Carr, the alleged satanist who was probably assassinated at an "Air Force city" (Minot, ND), and Wheat Carr, a former employee of the Yonkers Police Department. Berkowitz, in a possible moment of lucidity within his programmed, hypnotic state, indicated that the dog owned by Sam Carr (who was also Berkowitz' neighbor, no less!) was "controlling him". With all respect to the holy Vedas ("The universe is run by dog intelligence"), could this have been Berkowitz' way of tipping observers off to the fact that members of the Carr family (two of whom were government agents – John being a US Airman at the time) were part of the control mechanism Shepherding the elephantine terror (Berkowitz) through a ceremonial murder series?

Maury Terry points out that the shooting immediately following the use of the Levi symbol happened at the "Elephas" discotheque. Mr. Terry was also able to learn that one of the Sam missives had been signed "Chubby Behemoth" and he links this, quite rightly, to "Elephas" via the Latin for "elephant". I sure wish I'd known about this monniker because what Mr. Terry has omitted is the fact that a very important ritual involving magica sexualis and twilight language took place at the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco over 50 years ago. It was here that Fatty Arbuckle, an acclaimed silent screen comedian, raped Virginia Rappe with a wine bottle, producing the "must" of the elephant. According to psychic researcher James Shelby Downard, Fatty was fulfilling the role of the "Chubby Behemoth" in this rite, intended to imprint the Dreaming Mind of the Group Mind of the millions of people who learned of it with a subliminal message.

This twilight language usage in the SAM horror-show is not merely satanic. As I have tried to show [FT30] the SAM snuffs are obviously ceremonial and hence, when a nationally-syndicated reporter picks up this occult theme the level of disinformation present in the lone nut capture/resolution and the furnishing of "standard psychiatric motives" scenario is diminished. But to settle for a satanic label is also limiting and in a case where murder has been the object, the whole truth (or our best effort at thinking out every angle) must be the goal.

Can the satanist category fully account for the fact that cattle were mutilated in North Dakota at the time of John Wheat Carr's death there? Surely readers of Thomas R. Adams will feel an internal mental alarm go off when they learn of mutes being pawned off on satanists.

The cultic rites celebrated in Yonkers were also performed along aqueducts. In April, 1979, I wrote the "Sun of Sam" article for FT but it didn't appear in the States until 1980. Nevertheless, it was pointed out in those pages that SAM's letter to Breslin contained disguise-words representing the "spiritual" fecal matter or kalas present during magical operations. In October of 79 Maury Terry came to the same conclusion. Thanks to his familiarity with Yonkers, he also knew that the aqueduct was, at one time, the gutter of NYC. The guano-collecting Bat Tower of San Antonio, Texas, was located over a sewage center. This Tower was constructed by well-to-do Freemasons who were also members of the Anglo-Chicano Comazotz bat cult (cf. my Masonic Assassination).

John Wheat Carr's brother Michael was killed in an auto "accident" on October 4, 1979. Michael Carr was a member of the hierarchy of the Church of Scientology, the boss of which is LaFayette Ron Hubbard, a former associate of John Whiteside Parsons of the California Institute of Technology and the revival of the Knights Templar – the Ordo Templi Orientis. The OTO was into mystical toponomy (geomancy) and was synched into the absolute-zero Land's End negative sites available in California (certain areas on Mount Palomar, Griffith Park, Devil's Gate). Some of these sites would later serve as the stage for the Hillside Strangler who has been identified as Kenneth Bianchi, a hanger-on and "Go-fer" on the fringes of the world of police and detectives in the employ of the government.

Another onomatological symbol/sychronicity of importance is the fact that the Yonkers cult rites were conducted near a St. John place-name (St. John's hospital). The names Francis, Martin and John (sometimes preceded by "St.") are magnetic words for those practitioners of Rumpelstiltskin intentional language. Marie Laveau, the voudoo queen of legend and fact, held her hoo-doo hootenanies at Bayou St. John, New Orleans.

The method of sacrificing dogs also raised the magnitude of our interest in JOHN symbolism. Decapitation is an integral part of the 9th degree of the Scottish Rite and pertains to the ST. JOHN mania (cf. my Masonic Assassination).

Editor Bob Rickard reminded me a while back that German Shepherds are dogs with strong police and military associations. John Wheat Carr kept a mutilated ear from one of these police dogs on his wall. Terry says other members of the cult may have followed suit. For me such a display is most interesting in determining who was always under symbolic surveillance and by whom. It may also be a possible indicator of the level of programming experienced by the cultists. The grizzled old 19th-century American populists who fought against masonic assassinations observed how low-level initiates, when apprehended, tended to commit suicide or total self-incrimination. The old-time sleuths labeled this bizarre affliction "masonic apoplexy" and attributed it to the pioneering mind control mastery achieved by Freemason Anton Mesmer.

Let's put down our (herbal) tea-cups and do some last-minute guess-work.

I can accept that the front-group for this SAM series of sacrificial murders was a satanist outfit calculated to fulfill to the letter the worst nightmares of our orthodox Christian friends. But beyond such a Hollywood haunted-house schema is a powerful, well-oiled assassination machine, which, like the one that took off JFK, George Lincoln Rockwell (the latter through the offices of Carlos Allende), Martin Luther King, Sharon Tate, Marilyn Monroe, Don Bolles and hundreds of others, maintains the CIA, FBI and KGB in power (an enormity predicated on my reading of the signals emanating from a certain crucified snake hanging on a Tau Cross). To believe that this machine would permit the operation of another in its territory is unrealistic since the level of sophistication shown by the SAM crowd is not a commodity easily duplicated or tolerated. The notion of competing elites doesn't account for it either.

Other policemen have been implicated in the SAM tragedies including Deputy Craig Glassman. In Rochester, NY, the home-town of Kenneth Bianchi, 4 little girls were ritually sacrificed according to a twilight language every bit as terrifying and blatant as "Wicked King Wicker" in NYC (SAM). Two US Secret Service agents mysteriously appeared at the home of one of the child-victims on the day she met her demise, according to the Rochester Times-Union. No explanation was given for this presence. James Shelby Downard maintains that many US Secret Service agents are initiates within the cryptocracy running America.

If Maury Terry goes "for broke" in this case he can contribute to the fabled, alchemical Revelation of the Method. If he doesn't, I fear that B-Movie satanists will serve as complete explanation for the enigma that is the Son of Sam case.

If I have tended in this article toward what may appear to be a perverse infatuation for believing the worst about governments I can only refer readers to WH Bowart's Operation Mind Control (Dell paperback) or the later chapters of Valley Messengers.

Also recommended is Stephen Knight's opus on The Ripper (which could have served as the non-fictional basis for the film Murder by Decree instead of the fiction which trivialised the ultimate import of that powerfully illuminating movie, or, on the other hand, permitted its distribution).

In conclusion, I'm a kind of critically, paranoid optimist. Like that wonderful satirist Ezra Pound – who upon hearing that Harry Crosby had murdered himself and his girl-friend, described it as a "vote of confidence in the cosmos" – I believe that the Rumpelstiltskin riddle is not unbreakable. Intuition, spontaneity and a little help from the Wyrd Sisters, will prove more than a match for the Faustian tamperers and Gordian-knot slashers any day.

It's my hunch that we can throw a boomerang into the twinning mirror just by seeing that a particular door on 33rd Street of the town of Truth or Consequences, is, at present, wide open.

"I was born to give witness to the Truth."

PS: To the many folks who have queried my publisher for more about FOP as to the Freedom-of-Passage of FRATERNAL ORDER OF POLICE, I can only paraphrase Dr. Syntax (whom John Michell spotted on Land's End) when he was asked about the Abbey of Thelema. He said its rules were more strict than even the Catholic Church, despite its "Do Your Thing" motto.

PPS: Will the chap who wrote me in the summer of 1977 about Bel twilight language please write again – I've lost your address.
